Even though no development project is easy, the production of software for the Oil and Gas industry is a major challenge. The domain is so large and demanding that its experts are constantly eager of new sophisticated tools intended to satisfy their endless needs of computational power and information processing. In this exciting scenario, InfOil S. A. has proven, through a dilated and successful permanence in the market, its commitment to put big companies in closer contact with Smalltalk.

The Zafiro project is a leap forward in encouraging customers to increase their involvement in the evolution of the software. By providing concrete possibilities to redefine structures, business rules and relationships without the need to modify the software code base, InfOil is showing a pathway to engage users and developers in embracing changes imposed by the dynamic of the domain.
